Site walk started on the area known as the outdoor display area located at the back of the house. We then proceeded to walk to site with an explanation of each of the areas around the property. A review of the retention swale "pond" was held and there were no major concerns or questions regarding the flow and when the barrier and hay bales would be removed were addressed. Also discussed was the amount of trucks and type that the company had and what would be at the Derry site. As stated the amount of vehicles will vary based on where the work is but as a general number the company had approximately 30 vehicles, they are 6 taken home at night, 5 bigger trucks, 20 smaller truck "1 ton or less" these again will be between the 2 company sites. There will also be no gas stored on site and no vehicle repair other than normal maintenance; such as oil, windshield fluid, anti-freeze. We continued the walk and observed the back of the building where the overhang will go and there were no issues raised. We continued along the side where the addition would go and a question came up regarding the construction and location but no issues were brought up. We continued the walk and observed where all the paved area would be and no questions were asked. In conclusion the site walk went well and all questions appeared to be answered.
